DEATH OF MR. GEORGE PALLETT. We regret to state that death has claimed another old identity with Bendigo, in the person of Mr. George Pallett, who expired at his residence, Forest-street, at 20 minutes to 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after a few days' illness, the immediate cause of death being disease of the kidneys.

He was a native of Birmingham, England, and arrived on Bendigo during the first week of January, 1855, and was at the time of his death in the 55th year of his age. He has been ailing for the last twelve months, but on last Friday week he took his family out for a drive to the Sheepwash, and at that time appeared in good health and spirits. On Monday last he took to his bed, and was attended by Dr. Atkinson, but no serious consequences were anticipated until Saturday afternoon, when a consultation was held by Drs. Atkinson and Macgillivray, but all their professional skill was unavailing, and he died as above stated after having been for some hours unconscious.

On his arrival in Bendigo he spent a week or two at the diggings, and then turned his attention to the business of a general builder which he has followed ever since, and in which he has been very successful. At the time of his death he had the contract for building the new powder magazine, which will be finished by Mr. George Pallett, jun.

He leaves a wife and seven children to mourn their loss, but fortunately they are well provided for, as the deceased gentleman was the owner of a good deal of property about the city. His remains will be interred in the Sandhurst Cemetery, the funeral leaving his late residence at half-past three o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

DEATH OF MR. J. A. PANTON.
NOTABLE CAREER CLOSED.
Melbourne, 25th October.

Mr. Joseph Anderson Panton, C.M.G., formerly senior police magistrate, died today at his residence, Alexander-street, East St. Kilda, at the age of 82 years.

The deceased gentleman was born in Scotland on 2nd June, 1831. He came to Australia in 1851, and in the following year received the appointment of Commissioner of Crown Lands and Goldfields Commissioner.

He first took up duties at Castlemaine, the headquarters of the fields, and then went to Kangaroo Flat, Bendigo, where in 1853 he was appointed senior commissioner in charge of the district.

Mr. Panton was president of the original Bendigo Exhibition, the first of its kind held in Australia, and at its inception, was made president of the Victorian Artists' Society. Before leaving Bendigo in 1858 Mr. Panton was asked to assist in establishing a municipal court there. He sat with Mr. Edward Emmett, the first chairman of Bendigo.

At this time Mr. Panton was interested in exploration work in the Northern Territory, and in Western Australian pearling ventures. After spending five years in Europe Mr. Panton returned to Victoria, and did magisterial duty at Woods Point, Heidelberg and Yarra district. He then officiated in Geelong and the Western district, and subsequently settled in Melbourne, where his fame as a police magistrate rapidly developed. He retired from the public service in 1907.

In 1905 he was made a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George. Mr. Panton always took a deep interest in the development of the resources of Australia. He was one of the original founders of the Victorian Academy of Art, and took a sympathetic interest in the prison sculptor, William Stanford, who designed and carved the fountain behind the Gordon statue in Spring-street.

As a member of the Royal Geographical Society he advocated the importance of cotton growing and other tropical industries. He also took a keen interest in mining and geology from their economical standpoints.

The deceased gentleman married in 1860, and his wife predeceased him. He leaves two daughters – Mrs. Eleanor Crossman and Miss Panton.

DEATH OF MR. JAMES PARIS.

Bendigo Advertiser (Vic. : 1855 - 1918) Saturday 3 April 1875 p 2 Article

DEATH OF MR. JAMES PARIS.

It is also our melancholy duty to report the death of another well-known and highly respected Bendigonian, Mr. James Paris, at the early age of 38. Mr. Paris arrived in this colony about eighteen or nineteen years ago, and was for many years employed as storeman by Messrs. Moore Bros. and Co. At that time he was suffering from consumption, the disease which ultimately terminated his life; and, indeed, he was induced to settle in Sandhurst, in the hope that the dry atmosphere so characteristic of the place would, as it has in many similar cases, effect a complete cure.

After severing his connection with the firm above-mentioned Mr. Paris was appointed secretary to the Marong Shire Council, and during his connection with that body made a host of friends. At the same time he acted as legal manager to a number of mining companies. About two years ago he resigned all these appointments with a view to visiting the old country, whence he returned not more than twelve months ago. Since then he has been engaged, more or less successfully, in mining speculations.

It should be mentioned that at the time Mr. Paris severed his connection with the Marong Shire Council, he was presented by the inhabitants of Kangaroo Flat with a handsome testimonial, accompanied by an illuminated address, the presentation being made at a public dinner.

Mr. Paris resided latterly in lodgings in View-street, and four days ago was sufficiently well to come down town during the evening to visit several old friends, amongst others Mr. and Mrs. Sawers, of the Metropolitan Hotel. At that time there were no indications of immediate danger, and his sudden decease has taken his numerous friends completely by surprise. In his last illness he was attended by Dr. Macgillivray, who, of course, did all that medical skill could accomplish to prolong the life of his patient.

Mr. Paris had two brothers in the colony, one of whom was with him in his last moments, having been telegraphed for a few hours previously. The executors under the will of the lamented gentleman, who is understood to have accumulated considerable means, are Mr. Thompson Moore, M.L.A., and Mr. M. Tolmie.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon.

DEATH OF MR. SAMSON PARKER.

Bendigo Advertiser (Vic. : 1855 - 1918) Monday 18 January 1886 p 2 Article

DEATH OF MR. SAMSON PARKER.

It is with regret that we have to chronicle the death of another old Bendigonian in the person of Mr Samson Parker, the sad event occurring about half-past twelve o'clock yesterday at his late residence, Centre Block, Pall Mall. The deceased gentleman, who was about 66 years of age, has been ailing for some months past, his complaint being general debility from old age.

On Saturday night, as he was retiring to rest, he missed his footing, and fell to the bottom of the stairs. As soon as possible assistance was obtained, and Mr Parker was carried to his room, where, on the arrival of his medical adviser, Dr. Hinchcliff, shortly afterwards, it was found that the whole of the left side of his body was paralyzed, as if his spine were injured. He was unable to speak, and remained in a state of semi-consciousness up to the time of his death.

From the first, very slight hopes were entertained of his recovery, owing to his advanced age, and the weak state of his constitution. During yesterday afternoon, the sad occurrence was reported to Senior-constable Warren, who communicated with the district coroner, Mr R. Strickland, P.M. An inquest will be held on the body at half-past two o'clock this afternoon.

Mr Parker was a native of Lincolnshire, England, and came to the colony about thirty-three years ago. Shortly afterwards he arrived on the Bendigo goldfield, and in conjunction with his brother-in-law, the late Mr S. Macord, started business as tent makers, etc. Their establishment was on the site where Ingram's hat shop in the centre block now stands, Pall Mall being then known as Camp-street.

Several years afterwards he commenced business as a hat and cap manufacturer, at which he was pretty successful, and subsequently retired from business altogether. Being of an active temperament he, however, re-entered business as a sewing machine agent.

For some time past he has resided in his private house, where he expired, at the rear of Mr Lunn's paint shop in Pall Mall. The deceased gentleman was of a very retiring disposition and took no part in public affairs. As a business man he was honest and straightforward, and, by everyone who came in contact with him, he was held in the highest respect. Mrs Parker, who is also very old and feeble, is, as may be expected, very much distressed by the loss of her husband.

The deceased was a resident of 40 years standing of Golden-square, and was well-known in the district. He followed the occupation of a mining blacksmith, and shortly after his arrival on Bendigo he worked for some time with the Messrs. Bruce at their battery, Golden-square, which was one of the first erected in the district. The deceased was also in the employment of the late Clarke Magee for nearly 20 years, and for 14 years he worked at the Shenandoah mine.

The deceased was about 70 years of age at the time of his death, and leaves a widow and one son and daughter. The funeral took place yesterday at the Kangaroo Flat Cemetery, and was largely attended, many old friends of the deceased gentleman being present to pay their last tribute of respect to his memory. His son was chief mourner. Mr. G. S. Bissett conducted a brief service at the house, while at the grave the Rev. J. Barnaby, B.A., officiated, and delivered a most impressive address. Mr. W. SUDDEN DEATH OF MR. J. PATON.

On Saturday morning Mr. James Paton, the well-known farmer of Mosquito Creek, died very suddenly while he was on his way into Bendigo. He left his home in a waggonette, containing some produce, and drove outside his own gate about 150 yards from the house. He took the horse and vehicle through, shut the gate, and then got into the vehicle again. He was driving along at a walking pace, and had not proceeded more than 50 yards when he was observed by a young man named Dunlop, who was following behind in another trap, to fall over on to the left-hand side of the buggy, and then slide down on to the bottom, his head hanging over the side between the wheels.

Mr. Dunlop drove up alongside, and at once went to Mr. Paton's assistance, while a young man named Kennedy, who had been travelling off ahead, came back. They found Mr. Paton in an insensible condition, and speedily took him back to his house. A son and daughter drove with all haste into Bendigo for Dr. Hinchcliff, and he went out at once. However, on reaching the house, he found Mr. Paton had died five minutes prior to his arrival.

Yesterday a magisterial inquiry was held by Mr. John Heffernan, J.P., of Axedale. Dr. Hinchcliff deposed to making a post-mortem examination of the body, and found that the cause of death was syncope, due to weakness of the heart. A verdict in accordance with the medical testimony was returned.

The deceased, who was 70 years of age, arrived in the colony in 1852, and spent several years in Bendigo as a miner and puddler. About 24 years ago he took up some land at Mosquito Creek, and he has lived there ever since, farming being more to his liking than any other method of earning a livelihood. He was a noted and popular man in the district where he resided, and was widely known as one of the early pioneers. He took no part in public life, but leaves a wide circle of friends, who held him in great respect.

He has been in indifferent health for a couple of years. He leaves a widow, a son and two daughters, all grown up. The deceased gentleman arrived in the colony by the Malabar in February, 1853, and was one of the passengers who annually meet in Melbourne to celebrate the anniversary of their landing.

He will be buried to-day, the funeral leaving his late residence at 11 o'clock, and arriving at the Bendigo Cemetery about 3 p.m. The members of the Order of St. Andrew, of which deceased was a member, are invited by advertisement to take part in the obsequies.

Bendigo Advertiser (Vic. : 1855 - 1918) Wednesday 30 May 1900 p 3 Article

DEATH OF A FORMER BENDIGO RESIDENT.

The news of the death of Mr. J. T. Paull, a well-known former resident and mine manager of this city will be learned with feelings of profound regret by his numerous friends in this district. His death, which occurred at Boulder City, West Australia, was somewhat unexpected.

About three weeks ago word was received by the members of the family in Bendigo that Mr. Paull had contracted a very bad cold whilst attending to his duties as manager of Hannan's Central Extended mine, and that subsequently an attack of bronchitis and asthma developed. On receipt of the news, Mrs. Paull left for the western colony, and she arrived there last week. Yesterday, however, Mr. S. Paull, who is engaged at the Bendigo Post office, received a telegram from his mother, conveying the sad intelligence that his father had died at 10 o'clock that morning.

The late Mr. Paull was at one time manager of the New Chum, Belle Vue Extended, the Golden Age, and G.G. Consolidated mines respectively, and was well-known in connection with the Mining Managers' Association, of which at one time he occupied the position of president.

He was an old member of the Zenith Lodge of Freemasons, and was also connected with other institutions in Bendigo. Mr. Paull at the time of his death was 59 years of age, and he leaves a widow and grown-up family to mourn their loss.

Mining Managers' Salaries.

At the gathering held at the Mining Exchange on Saturday evening to bid farewell to Mr. J. T. Paull, the secretary of the Mine Managers' Association, Mr. W. Wilson, said, in referring to the payment of Bendigo mine managers, that as long as a mine returned some gold the manager's attention was commended. It frequently occurred, however, that when he did not get any gold he was considered of very little value.

It happened sometimes that a manager put more energy into his work when a claim did not progress than when he was obtaining good returns. Yet in the former instance his Salary might be lowered, or he might be discharged. He did not see how that could be of advantage to the shareholders. Let a man be ever so good, if there was no gold coming shareholders were ready for a change.

He considered that wages for mining managers were lower in Bendigo than in any other mining district in Victoria, and he did not blame a mine manager who took advantage of an opportunity to better himself under such circumstances.

Paull's wife Ruth died in 1906 and they are buried together in Kalgoorlie-Boulder Cemetery.

<https://www.mindat.org/loc-272455.html>

The Hannans Central Gold Mine is at the far north-west section of the Golden Mile. The Hannans Central Extended Gold Mining Company was floated around 1895 to develop the property.

The mine manager, J.T. Paull, died from an illness on 29 May 1900. As a result the company missed the payment of rent to the government, and the lease was declared forfeited. This had been an oversight by the company, who then launched Supreme Court action to get the lease back.

At this point there were twenty-two men tributing on the lease who then pegged claims for alluvial in their own names. The company sought an injunction to stop them working the lease. Four parties had claimed the lease, the original company, land speculator a

Mr. Connelly, the alluvial miners, and the Boulder City Council who wanted the land for houses. To prevent years of legal cases, the government stepped in and gave the lease back to the company. In October 1903, the company was voluntarily wound up.

DEATH OF MR. JAMES PENISTAN.
"THE FATHER OF THE BEEHIVE."

Yesterday afternoon Mr. James Penistan died at his residence. Pyke street, Quarry Hill, after a long and painful illness, extending over five years. He was widely known as the earliest of the Bendigo sharebrokers. He came to Bendigo 44 years ago, and for thirty-four years carried on business as a share broker.

He was a native of London, and was born in 1833. After receiving an excellent education and serving his time to the drapery trade, he came out to Melbourne in 1852, being a shipmate of the late T. H. Henderson. It was a peculiar coincidence that the drapery establishment in London in which he learned his trade was "The Beehive". From Melbourne he went to Ballarat and was there at the time of the Eureka Stockade riots though he took no part in that historical incident.

From Ballarat, where he made a good deal of money in mining, he came to Bendigo in 1855 and was a part proprietor with Messrs. Young and Co., of the first crushing battery erected in Bendigo, their plant being located near the United Kingdom Hotel, Golden Square.

When the battery was sold he commenced the first share broking business in Bendigo. In this he had a monopoly until Messrs. Leeds and Pringle also entered the field. At one time between 1869 and 1875 his transactions must every week have run into many thousands of pounds. Up to a few years ago he was the life and soul of the Beehive, cheery amongst the cheeriest, and when quite an old man able to sing a good song with the best of our musical amateurs, especially at breaking-up time.

He carried on business until about five years ago when he was seized with paralysis. Through this attack he lost his speech, but ultimately recovered it. He was quite invalided for the past two years and Dr. Atkinson was in frequent attendance. He grew worse until the end came yesterday.

As a broker and agent he was held in the greatest esteem for his integrity and business capacity. He leaves a widow and four daughters. One of these is married to the Rev. J. Paterson, Presbyterian minister at Swan Hill, and another has a private school in Pyke street Quarry Hill.

The funeral will leave his late residence at 4.30 o'clock today and will be private.

DEATH OF MR. JAMES PENISTAN. The many friends of Mr. James Penistan, one of the oldest members of the Bendigo Stock Exchange, will regret to hear of his death, which took place yesterday. The deceased gentleman, who was 70 years of age, was born in London, and was one of the pioneers of Bendigo. In 1862 he started business as a sharebroker at the Bendigo Stock Exchange, and continued there till a couple of years ago, when he was seized with a paralytic stroke.

Up to that time Mr. Penistan had enjoyed fairly good health, but since he received the paralytic stroke he was compelled to pass most of his time indoors.

A few months back his health seemed to be improving, but he suffered a relapse, and gradually grew worse, and despite the unremitting attention of Dr. Atkinson he expired at 12 o'clock noon yesterday. The deceased gentleman was well known under "the Verandah," and was universally respected.

He leaves a widow and grown up family including one daughter, who is married to the Rev. J. Patterson, Presbyterian minister, to mourn their loss. The funeral will take place privately from deceased's late residence, Pyke-street, Quarry Hill, to-day, at 4.30 p.m., the place of interment being the Bendigo Cemetery.

DEATH OF MR. CHARLES PETRIE. The many friends of Mr. Charles Petrie, who for a very long time was an official in the Bendigo post office, will be sorry to hear of his death, which took place early yesterday morning at his residence, Don-street. The deceased gentleman, who would have been 70 years of age next month, was in fairly good health up till Saturday last, when he had an attack of bilious colic, from which, despite the attentions of Dr. James Eadie, he succumbed.

Mr. Petrie, who was one of the pioneers of Bendigo, was a native of Kinnethmont, Aberdeenshire. He arrived in Sydney in 1849, and reached Bendigo in 1852. He worked with varying success in Sailors' Gully, Long Gully, Ironbark, Golden Gully and Sheepshead. In 1857 he entered the service of the Government as an official in the Bendigo Post office, and remained in the service till he retired about five years ago. He then had charge of the money order office. He was one of the first employed in the office, and had a record of 33 years' service, gaining the respect and esteem of all who came into contact with him. The employees in the office, on hearing of the sad event yesterday, deputed Mr. A. F. Gibbs to forward a beautiful wreath as a mark of their sympathy.

The deceased gentleman was also well known in connection with lodge matters. He was a member of St. Andrew's Society for 24 years, and for a long time secretary of the Gold Miners' Pride Lodge, M.U.I.O.O.F., and took an active interest in the founding of the Bendigo Friendly Societies' Dispensary, occupying a seat on the board of management for some years.

In addition, he was for a number of years, with Messrs. John Neeson and John Delbridge, a trustee of the widows' and orphans' fund in connection with the Oddfellows' Lodges of the district. He leaves a family of five, three sons and two daughters. The eldest son is an engineer at Mount Morgan, Queensland, while another is Mr. G. A. Petrie, the well-known legal manager. One of the daughters is married to Mr. G. H. Matear, postmaster at Fitzroy. The funeral will take place at 4.15 o'clock this afternoon.

OBITUARY.

The Bendigo Independent (Vic. : 1891 - 1918) Friday 15 February 1907 p 3 Article

Mr. Abraham Phillips, one of the earliest residents of Bendigo, died yesterday, aged 78 years. He was in excellent health up to a few weeks ago, so that his death will cause both surprise and regret.

The deceased gentleman was a native of London. At the age of 17 years he left England for India, and was engaged there for some years in the East India Company's service. About 1852 the startling discoveries of gold in the Port Phillip district attracted him, and he joined the fortune seekers in Australia. For several years he was occupied on the diggings, including Back Creek, Golden Gully, Taradale, etc. In later years, and until recently, he was in business as an aerated water manufacturer.

He was of an amiable and sociable disposition, and his reminiscences of London, India and early Victoria were most interesting. He leaves a widow, but no family. Mr. Joseph Phillips, of Ballarat, is a brother. The funeral takes place to the White Hills Cemetery, to-day, leaving his late residence, Chapel Street, at 3 o'clock.

DEATH OF ANOTHER OLD PIONEER.

On Monday morning, as will be seen by our obituary column, another of the early pioneers of Bendigo has gone to join the great majority. The late Mr. Alexander Phillips was among the earliest settlers on this goldfield, and for some years followed the occupation of a digger with moderate success.

He and Mrs. Phillips then started a dairy, which they kept on until increasing years and an infirmity of the ankle, from which Mr. Phillips suffered, necessitated their giving it up. They then took to fruit growing, and a very neat double cottage and garden opposite Mr. James Fawns' residence on Bullock Creek road attest their success. Mr. Phillips leaves a widow but no family. She is in very delicate health, and the news of his death has been kept from her, she being absent at Castlemaine on a visit to old friends when it occurred.

The late Mr. Phillips was a native of Aberdeen, Scotland, and followed in his early life some position connected with the shipping. He was an honest, kind hearted and simple-minded man of the old school, and much liked by all who knew him. His death will be heard of by his numerous friends with regret.

A magisterial inquiry was held on Monday evening by Mr. A. Harkness, J.P., Dr. J. M. Eadie being present. Verdict was death from old age. Yesterday the remains of the deceased gentleman were buried very privately in the burial ground of the family at the Sandhurst Cemetery, the Rev. Dr. Nish, of St. Andrew's, and Mr. Denovan, town clerk, being the only mourners. Dr. Nish read the Presbyterian service at the grave. Mr. Farmer was the undertaker.

DEATH OF MR. JAMES PORT. It is our sad duty to chronicle the death of one of the oldest residents in the Bendigo district, Mr. J. Port, who expired at his residence, the Durham Ox Hotel, Back Creek, yesterday morning.

About a fortnight ago Mr. Port had an attack of paralysis, from which he never thoroughly rallied. He was well-known as an ardent politician and an enthusiastic cricketer, being one of the oldest members of the Bendigo United Cricket Club.

His honesty of heart, and the strong sincerity of his character, won for him the respect and esteem of all who knew him, and these good qualities, with the pleasant recollections of his friendship, will long "keep his memory green."

About six weeks ago we had to intimate the sad intelligence of the death of a very old resident of Sandhurst – (Mr. James Port) of the Durham Ox Hotel, Back Creek. The announcement has now to be made of the death of Mrs. Port, which sad event took place at the hotel above-mentioned on Tuesday, the 24th ult.

Many of the residents of the locality in which the Durham Ox Hotel is situated will miss the friendly face and kindly words of the lady named, for ever since the hotel was built Mrs. Port has identified herself to every-one whose business led them to patronise the establishment.

Mrs. Port was taken ill after the death of her husband, and never recovered her former strength or spirits up to the time of her death. The deceased leaves five children, who, it is believed, are all well provided for.

Bendigo Advertiser (Vic. : 1855 - 1918) Wednesday 19 March 1884 p 2 Article

DEATH OF DR. J. B. POUNDS.

Many Sandhurst residents will regret to hear of the death of Dr. James Baker Pounds, who formerly occupied the position of coroner in the Sandhurst district. Dr. Pounds has been staying for some time past at the residence of the Very Reverend Dean O'Hea at Coburg, near Melbourne and this is where he died yesterday afternoon. His most intimate friends in this district were not aware that he has been ill latterly, and though his life had covered, or had at all events very nearly covered, the period of time allotted to man in this world, his demise will be learned with surprise.

Dr. Pounds was a native of New Ross, Wexford, and Dean O'Hea was a townsman of his, having held the position of parish priest, previous to the doctor coming to this colony. Dr. Pounds was married before he left his native country, and two of his sons are still living. One is at present a bank manager at Auckland, a position which he had previously held in Geelong. The other son was for some time in the service of the Mikado of Japan, and acted as Government interpreter at Yeudo. He is at present in London.

Dr. Pounds' first colonial experiences were in Ballarat, where he lost some money over a quantity of mining machinery which he had imported. He was subsequently employed as medical officer at Pentridge, and in 1862 succeeded Dr. Roche as coroner for the Sandhurst district. During his residence in Sandhurst he identified himself with several matters of local interest.

He took an interest in the question of mining accidents and their prevention. He was on the committee of St. Paul's Church, and was mainly instrumental in introducing into the city the peal of bells for St. Paul's tower. This action, however, had the effect of bringing the church heavily into debt, so heavily that it has not even yet recovered. When the church was in its initiatory stages many years previously, Dr. Pounds induced the architect, Mr. Love, to start the building on the plan of the New Ross Cathedral.

In 1877 Dr. Pounds retired from the position of coroner in consequence of ill health, and was succeeded by Mr. Robert Strickland. Dr. Pounds spent a considerable time subsequently in New Zealand, and other parts of the Australian colonies, but never returned to Sandhurst. The funeral is announced to take place at Coburg to-day, at 5 o'clock p.m., and his friends are invited to attend.

A SON OF AN OLD BENDIGONIAN.

The Argus is informed that Mr. "Pfoundes" referred to in an extract from the European Mail, published in the Argus of 1st December, as having read a paper before the British Association on "Our Sailors and Our Ships", is the son of Dr. Pounds, late medical officer of the Pentridge Stockade, and subsequently coroner of Sandhurst.

Mr. Pounds was at one time a midshipman with Mr. Walter Madden, on board the colonial warship Victoria. He subsequently served in the Castlemaine Rifles, under Captain, now Lieutenant-Colonel, J. E. N. Bull.

Mr. Pounds' name was changed to Pfoundes by the Japanese, in whose service he has been as agent for the Royal Mail Steamship Company of Nipond, at Yokohama. Mr. Pounds subsequently went with the Japanese to the Philadelphia Exhibition, after which he went to London to establish there the Nipond Branch of the Royal Asiatic Society. He was well known in Victoria prior to 1862.

Powell, treasurer of the church, who died while on a voyage to England three weeks ago. Mourning emblems were placed in the church, the pew of the deceased lady being also draped in black. A beautiful white wreath had been provided by the vestrymen as a tribute of esteem.

The preacher stated that Mrs. Powell had been the oldest member of the ladies' committee, which had done so much for the church, and referred in diverse ways to her useful Christian life. The "Dead March" in "Saul" was played on the organ by Miss Burston, the congregation meanwhile standing.

DEATH OF AN OLD COLONIST.

Another old pioneer, in the person of Mr. Frederick Price, better known as Captain Price, was called to his rest at 4 p.m. yesterday at the residence of Mr. John Illingworth, the well-known brewer of Golden-square.

The deceased was born in Konisberg, Prussia, in 1807, and for 23 years he served in the British Navy as an officer in Her Majesty's service, for which he received the Royal pension.

While the gold fever raged the deceased pegged out a claim at Old Tom Gully, Whipstick, which proved a great success, and eventually Mr. Price ventured his luck in the Frederick the Great Company, Sebastian, which also proved another "gold mine" for him. Like many wise speculators, he made provision for a "rainy day," and invested much of his money in Melbourne property, which brought him a large competency.

He was 86 years of age, and was attended by Dr. Macgillivray in his last hours. The Rev J. Hunter Potter visited him frequently during his illness and his end was peace. The funeral of Captain Price takes place from Panton-street, Golden-square, on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock. He leaves a widow to mourn her loss.

PURVES John Kerr (336)

SUDDEN DEATH OF A SANDHURST RESIDENT. (FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.) MELBOURNE, Saturday, 26th May.

Article - Bendigo Advertiser (Vic. : 1855 - 1918) Monday 28 May 1883 - Page 3

SUDDEN DEATH OF A SANDHURST RESIDENT.
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)
MELBOURNE, Saturday, 26th May.

Mr. J. K. Purves, a well-known publican of Sandhurst, and a sergeant in the Bendigo Cavalry, died suddenly at the Bull and Mouth Hotel, where he was lodging during his stay in this city. Mr. Purves attended the review in his military capacity on the Queen's Birthday, and yesterday he paid a visit to Geelong, returning home from that place last night to all outward appearances in good health and spirits.

Early this morning he complained of a pain in the region of the heart, and went to lie down on the sofa in the back bar of the hotel. A few minutes later the landlady went into the room, and asked him if she should bring him a pillow. Receiving no answer, she at first thought that he was asleep, but on looking at him more closely, she found that he appeared to be dying. Dr. Wilson was hurriedly sent for, but on his arrival he pronounced life to be extinct.

INQUEST ON THE BODY.

The body was removed to the morgue, where a post-mortem examination was made by Dr. Wilson, and in the afternoon an inquest was held by Dr. Youl, at which the following evidence was taken:

Sarah Grassyfort, wife of the landlord of the Bull and Mouth Hotel, Bourke-street east, said: The deceased came to stay at our hotel on the 24th inst. He came from Sandhurst for the review. He seemed in good health. He was up this morning at seven o'clock. He seemed in good spirits, but he complained of a pain in the chest. He had some gin and bitters, and also a small quantity of brandy. He was quite sober. He drank occasionally, and on the 24th he was not sober. After he had the brandy he went to lie down on the sofa. I went to ask him if he would like a pillow. He made no answer. Upon examination I found he was unable to speak. I sent for a doctor, but he died before the doctor arrived. I tried to recover him, but without success.

Thomas Purves said: The deceased was my brother. He was about 59 years of age; he was an hotel keeper at Sandhurst. He had left a wife and one daughter. He was not in very good health. He has had several epileptic fits, but not during the last year. I had not seen him for two months.

Michael Maxwell, a police constable, said: I was sent for to see the deceased at about half-past nine this morning. I found him lying dead upon a sofa. I brought his body to the morgue. I searched it and found upon it £2 3s. 6d., and a watch chain. There were no marks of violence.

Dr. John S. Wilson deposed as follows: I was called to see the deceased this morning at about nine o'clock. I found him recently dead. I have made a post mortem examination of the body. Externally there were no marks of violence; internally I found the brain and its membranes much congested.

I found upon the surface of the brain, principally at its base, about four ounces of effused blood. I found the heart enlarged to double its natural size. The valves were competent. The lungs were congested. The stomach was healthy; there were no signs of poisoning; it contained a small quantity of fluid smelling of spirits. The liver and kidneys were healthy. The cause of death was sanguineous apoplexy.

The jury at once returned a verdict in accordance with the medical evidence, and arrangements were then made for the removal of the body to Sandhurst.

The remains of Mr. Purves were conveyed to Sandhurst by the last train on Saturday evening. The deceased, who was 59 years of age, was born in Coldstream, Berwickshire, England, and arrived in Melbourne in the year 1853, when he carried on business in the furniture line; afterwards establishing a branch in High-street, Sandhurst, where he came to reside in 1858.

After continuing in the furniture trade for some time, he became the landlord of the View Point Hotel, and subsequently of the Five Lions Hotel, in which place he remained for a number of years. He left this hotel, and lived in private life until he took the Masonic Hotel, of which he was the lessee at the time of his death.

Mr. Purves was a member of the Masonic Lodge, and during his residence in Sandhurst had been connected with various friendly societies. In the year 1861 he joined the cavalry troop, and last year he received the appointment of quarter-master sergeant, and filled that office with the P.W.V.V.L.H. at the review on the Queen's Birthday in Melbourne. He took a great interest in the troop; he and the late Major Moorhead having joined on the same day. Mr. Purves leaves a widow and one daughter to mourn their loss.

The funeral will leave the Masonic Hall at two o'clock this afternoon. The members of the Bendigo Rifle Corps, P.W.V.V.L.H., and Northcott's Volunteer Band are requested by advertisement to meet at their respective orderly rooms half-an-hour earlier. The members of the Golden and Corinthian and Zenith Lodges (without regalia) are also invited to attend the funeral.

OBITUARY. DEATH OF MR. T. PUTNAM.

An old identity of Bendigo passed away yesterday in Mr. Timothy Putnam, of "Woodbury," Grassy Flat. The deceased, who was one of the oldest auctioneers in the district was 68 years old. About six years ago he had a nervous shock and never again recovered his original robust health. The immediate cause of death, however, was pneumonia.

Born in Halifax. Nova Scotia, Mr. Putnam in his youth came to Victoria, and about 40 years ago became a resident of Bendigo as agent for Powers, Rutherford and Co. (livestock sales) He conducted their Bendigo business until about 16 years ago, when he took it over on his own account, and in recent years the business has been managed by his son, under the title of Putnam and Son.

The deceased was one of the most respected of Bendigonians, of a genial and genuine disposition. The Jockey Club found in him a good supporter, and for many years he was an honorary judge and was elected a life member. He was also a life member of the Bendigo Agricultural Society und a trustee of the Savings Bank.

A family of three sons (Messrs. O. D. Putnam, auctioneer; R. N. Putnam, city valuer and secretary of the Bendigo Jockey Club; and R. T. Putnam, a doctor in New Zealand), and two daughters (Mrs. W. Pennefather and Miss Janet Putnam) are left. The funeral will take place to the Bendigo Cemetery this afternoon at 3 p.m.

DEATH OF A NOTHER OLD BENDIGONIAN.

Bendigo Advertiser (Vic. : 1855 - 1918) Thursday 7 November 1889 p 2 Article

DEATH OF ANOTHER OLD BENDIGONIAN.

Yesterday Mr. John Pike, at his residence, Toorak-road, South Yarra, passed away to the unseen world after a short illness. Notwithstanding his ripe old age, namely, 75 years, Mr. Pike usually enjoyed excellent health, and paid a visit to Sandhurst as recently as three weeks ago. About eight or ten days ago, however, he was seized with an attack of diarrhoea, which grew in severity, and medical skill being of no avail the patient succumbed to the disease as previously mentioned.

The news of his death was received by his many friends in Sandhurst with very great regret, more especially by his tenants, a number of whom have rented properties from him in Sandhurst for as long as twenty years, and some for over a quarter of a century. Amongst these are Messrs. C. Woods, D. Whyte, John Emery, and John Robshaw. The whole of his tenants speak of Mr. Pike as a just, honorable, and generous landlord. Many stories are told of his generosity towards, and consideration shown, to his tenants.

The deceased gentleman was a very old colonist, having arrived in Victoria in the "forties." He came to Bendigo in the early days of the diggings and it is stated that for a time he kept the first post office opened on the goldfield. Mr. Pike acquired an immense amount of property of great value in Sandhurst, Melbourne, and other places, and retained it up to the time of his death. He owned that valuable property known as Pike's Buildings, extending from the Beehive Stores along Pall Mall and up Mitchell-street to Mr. J. R. Hoskin's timber yard.

He was also possessed of a large station at Mansfield, in the North eastern district, and another in the Korong Vale district. Mr. Pike never took a prominent part in public matters, being of a rather retiring disposition. He leaves a numerous family, all grown up. The funeral, we understand, will take place in Melbourne tomorrow.
