

Bendigo Historical Society presents

The Good Country* - a public conversation.

Sunday 10 September 2023 4-6pm

La Trobe Art Institute, 121 View Street
Bendigo

Bain Attwood, Professor of History at Monash University, and Rodney Carter, CEO Djadja Wurrung Corporation, will have a conversation about Bain's book The Good Country and the importance of truth-telling and the Aboriginal voice.

A free event but bookings essential

Click here to book

Bain Attwood is Professor of History at Monash University and has held fellowships at the University of Cambridge and Harvard University. In 2010 his book Possession: Batman's Treaty and the Matter of History won the Ernest Scott Prize for the most distinguished contribution to the history of Australia or New Zealand or colonial history. He has written many books, including the acclaimed biography William Cooper: An Aboriginal Life Story, about the inspirational Aboriginal leader William Cooper, and co-edited Telling Stories: Indigenous History and Memory in Australia and New Zealand and Protection and Empire: A Global History.

Rodney Carter is a descendant of Djadja Wurrung and Yorta Yorta People and resides on Djadja Wurrung Country in Bendigo, Central Victoria. He currently works for his people, the Djadja Wurrung as the Group Chief Executive Officer of the Djadja Wurrung Clans Aboriginal Corporation and the Djadja Wurrung Enterprises Pty Ltd.

Bookish will be selling copies of The Good Country at the event.